

Qtips

1. Tailor your online lesson to your delivery method: synchronous or asynchronous.
2. When designing an asynchronous lesson, be sure to write to the learners with a student-friendly tone as if they were in a live session.
3. Create opportunities for formative self-assessment so that learners build self-regulation skills as well as their confidence.

Strive for progress not perfection.
- David Perlmutter,
M.D. (neurologist)

Reflect

1. How will you revise or reimagine your existing online lessons to increase engagement?
2. What new tips, strategies, or tools for increasing student engagement are you excited about?

Don't Forget

Empty rounded rectangular box for notes under 'Don't Forget'.

Questions

Empty rounded rectangular box for notes under 'Questions'.

Q-it Up

*How will you use what you learned?
List your ideas.*