

UDL and You: Student voice, choice, and empowerment with active learning projects

Want an interactive, accessible, and equitable way to engage your learners? Try UDL projects! We'll share multiple ways that learners can demonstrate mastery of concepts with project-based learning. We'll show examples of UDL projects and feedback from students on how they were better able to integrate the concepts by creating meaning and producing artifacts. No matter the length or subject matter of your class, you can apply UDL to provide opportunities for deep, transformative learning.

Please click the link below or copy/paste this link into your browser to access the presentation and course materials:

<https://bit.ly/QMUDLandYOU>

Presented by Marc Markell & Heather Braatz

Want an interactive, accessible, and equitable way to engage your learners? Try UDL projects! We'll share multiple ways that learners can demonstrate mastery of concepts with project-based learning. We'll show examples of UDL projects and feedback from students on how they were better able to integrate the concepts by creating meaning and producing artifacts. No matter the length or subject matter of your class, you can apply UDL to provide opportunities for deep, transformative learning.

Please click the "Start Course" button to begin.

